DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

2. Claims 19-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Entenmann et al. (USPN 4,996,705, hereinafter "Entenmann").

Regarding claim 19, Entenmann discloses a telephone call processing system comprising:

means for receiving calls and establishing telephone communication to select a subset of callers based on online responses (callers to a specific lottery are determined based on the entering of a lottery code; col. 2, lines 51-54) and utilizing automatic identification signals (customer telephone number is forwarded using ANI ; col. 2, lines 54-56);

means for providing identification signals (a lottery entry number for the caller can be generated by the system; col. 3, lines 12-14; col. 3, line 67 - col. 4, line 2);

means for processing data (lottery entries are processed to isolate winners; col. 3, lines 34+).

Regarding claim 20, Entenmann provides for randomly generating a lottery target number (col. 3, lines 35-43).

Regarding claim 21, Entenmann discloses a telephone call processing system comprising:

Art Unit: 2743

means for selectively receiving calls to establish telephone communication with a select subset of callers (callers are selectively received at a plurality of different lotteries including a customer paid lottery or a sponsor paid lottery; col. 2, lines 47-62; col. 3, lines 14-19, 30-34; col. 4, lines 32-34);

means for providing identification signals (a lottery entry number for the caller can be generated by the system; col. 3, lines 12-14; col. 3, line 67 - col. 4, line 2);

means for individually cueing (announcement system 17 prompts the lottery customer to key or speak a go-ahead signal; col. 3, lines 21-30);

means for storing (database 19).

Regarding claim 22, Entenmann discloses a telephone call processing system comprising:

means for selectively receiving calls to establish telephone communication with a select subset of callers (callers are selectively received at a plurality of different lotteries including a customer paid lottery or a sponsor paid lottery; col. 2, lines 47-62; col. 3, lines 14-19, 30-34; col. 4, lines 32-34);

means for providing identification signals (a lottery number for the caller can be generated by the system; col. 3, lines 12-14; col. 3, line 67 - col. 4, line 2);

means for processing data (lottery entries are processed to isolate winners; col. 3, lines 34+).

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2743

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Entenmann et al. (Entenmann) in view of the reference entitled "The AT&T Multi-Mode Voice Systems - Full Spectrum Solutions for Speech Processing Applications" by Hester et al. (Hester).

Entenmann discloses a telephone call processing system comprising:

means for selectively receiving calls (eligible callers from a certain locale are identified via calling number signals; col. 2, lines 54-62); means for providing identification signals (ANI signals supplied by the local switching system; col. 2, lines 5-11);

means for individually cueing (announcement system 17 prompts the lottery customer to key or speak a go-ahead signal; col. 3, lines 21-30);

means for storing (database 19).

Although Entenmann provides for a plurality of lotteries (plurality of formats) being controlled by the same system (col. 2, lines 47-48), it differs from claims 17-18 in that it does not specify the use of DNIS for selecting from the plurality of formats. However, Hester teaches the well known use of DNIS for access to a plurality of formats (page 3, second paragraph) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate the use of DNIS, as taught by Hester, within the lottery system of Entenmann in order to automatically identify the selected lottery format from a plurality of lottery formats using DNIS.

Art Unit: 2743

Regarding claim 18, Entenmann provides for randomly generating a lottery target number (col. 3, lines 35-43).

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 17-22 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
